

Fragile

This side table was designed to be placed by the side of a sofa or inserted over a sofa seat. The side table is made by a chair factory that does not normally produce side tables, since strength and stability are the most important factors in this design. Naturally, it cannot be used as a chair, but by constructing from two slender vertical struts, a heavy tabletop, and heavy bottom board, we created the side table to have the strength and stability to withstand many years of use.
