

Glossy Temptation

The wooden legs of the Temptation table have been replaced with metal, and the structure has been completely reexamined to enhance strength. The component composition has been minimized, and the elliptical shape of the cross-section has been made thinner, adjusting to a sharper impression. The bronze metal imparts a distinctive, weighty luster, and the reflections from the surrounding environment create a completely different expression compared to the original wood texture. The tabletop is available in larger sizes, including rectangular and oval shapes, compared to the conventional design.
