

Icarus wings - wood legs

The arms that spread outwards wide smoothly converge at the back for an organic, plump, and soft appearance. The edge which forms the boundary separating the inner and outer surfaces is smoothly connected in a single line while adding tension. Our objective was to create this lounge chair that user entrust their body on it and spending a leisure time. It utilized feathers for the seat cushion, waist and inner back. The wooden legs are made up of solid round bars, and we contrasted this with a voluminous shell.
