The nature worship of Japan holds the belief that gods reside everywhere from mountains to forests, and in everything — even in trees, rocks, and water.

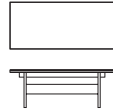

We manufacture furniture from trees, which are a precious blessing of nature. This table is manufactured with our wish that it will receive long-lasting use by users in a way the same as how they would cherish nature. A large piece of wood is used for the beam that connects the two legs of the solid table, which is reminiscent of the robust structure that supports buildings in shrines and temples.
