

Lotus table

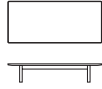

The relationship between the sofa and low table has an important meaning that defines the existence of living spaces in modern life.

For the bordered tabletop that was carved out of solid wood to quietly stand out, we constructed it with simple elements made up of only four parts, the tabletop, two legs, and the stretcher beam that supports the tabletop. It is a low table with a simple presence and a form resembling the torii gate of a shrine. The space is given a dense designability and depth from the carved wood.
