

Enshu

Enshu is a lighting design based on a reinterpretation of the cylindrical lanterns said to have been invented by the tea master Kobori Enshu. The design complements both traditional Japanese interiors with tatami flooring and modern Western spaces with sofas and dining areas. Made from Akita cedar, known for its fine grain and durability, and hand-made Mino washi, it diffuses light softly to create a warm atmosphere.

Enshu

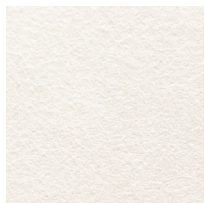

LEF-01 Floor light
Ø302×H1170

TIME & STYLE

H (height)
φ (diameter)

Dimensions Unit: mm

Japanese paper
Plain

Cedar Plain