

Multilayered object

Light intersects and blends with color as it passes through this simple yet refined shelf, crafted from 5-mm thick acrylic panels in blue, green, and purple. The transparent material allows even the joints to remain visible, creating layered depths of color where they overlap. The low type of this shelf serves as an unobtrusive yet functional side table for a sofa, adding a quiet accent to the space with its unique transparency and lightness. The high type harmonizes effortlessly beside a desk or in any corner, standing like an object of art, reflecting light and its surroundings to create a gentle rhythm in the room.

More than just a storage piece, this shelf is an object to experience, one in which light and color weave delicate expressions that shift with time. The ever-changing interplay of gradations and shadows offers a fresh impression with every glance. As each color casts its own perspective on the world, the shelf quietly blends into daily life, becoming a presence that enhances both space and perception.
