

Two shades of white

This lamp combines a white porcelain base, crafted by Arita artisans, with a white linen shade. The contrast between the twelve-sided, angular base and the soft curves of the cylindrical shade creates a sculptural presence.

Although both the porcelain and linen are white, they interact with light in different ways. The porcelain has a smooth surface of pure, translucent whiteness, while the linen, woven with slight irregularities, exudes subtle shadows and a natural warmth. These two materials, though contrasting in texture, share the essence of unaltered, natural whiteness. When illuminated, their differences become even more distinct—the porcelain remains still and serene, while the linen softens the light with its quiet warmth. Together, they create a tranquil, harmonious glow.
